

Republican Ticket.

President—Hon. William H. Taft, of Ohio. Vice President—Hon. J. S. Sherman, of New York. State Treasurer—Hon. R. K. Young, of Tioga County. Auditor General—Hon. A. W. Powell, of Allegheny County.

REDUCED to simple terms the row in the treasury is merely the attempt of a subordinate to be bigger than the head of the department.

WHEN asked how he liked the nomination of Wilson, Henry Watterson, says the Philadelphia Inquirer, who was cutting off a piece of tobacco at the time, became so excited that he threw the plug in the street, stuck the "chew" in his pocket and swallowed the knife.

BY unanimous vote the International Bible Students' Association, in session at Washington, has repudiated as unscriptural the idea that there is a place, state or condition of "hell fire and brimstone" for the torment of the wicked.

ONE of the woman delegates in the Chicago convention cracked her voice by yelling for Roosevelt in that great meeting. If lovely woman is to stay in politics she must adjust yelling. Her vocal chords are not made for such work, any more than they are for keeping up the hue and cry in a rabbit chase after the hounds strike the trail.

Mr. Speer Highly Praisd.

Says a Franklin dispatch: The following resolution was adopted at the regular meeting of William B. Mays post, No. 220, G. A. R., Monday night:

"Resolved, That the members of this post, irrespective of party or other affiliations, desire to testify to their appreciation of the efforts on behalf of indigent and deserving veteran soldiers made by our representative in Congress, the Hon. Peter M. Speer, and to express to him their thanks for the cheerful and courteous attention he has given to those of their comrades having meritorious claims, and the assiduity with which he has forwarded all such cases to successful conclusions, and that the adjutant of the post be directed to forward a copy of this resolution to Mr. Speer and furnish copies to the local papers for publication."

The Republican Campaign.

Charles D. Hillis, private secretary to President Taft, has been chosen as his campaign manager, and will begin business at once. Chairman Hillis made the following succinct and forceful statement of the situation:

"The Republican party approaches the presidential campaign with confidence in the solemnity of the cause and in the integrity and ability of the candidates who represent that cause. Progress with order is good doctrine for the Republican party today as it has been since the day of its birth.

"Real progress is not a theory, but an achievement. No American citizen should be desecrated into an exchange of his birthright for a vision. The progress of the nation toward better things does not come from declamation, but from actual results. More has been accomplished in the last three years under the administration of President Taft than was ever before accomplished by any American president in the same period of time.

"A distinct line of demarcation between the Republican party and the Democratic party is revealed in the platforms adopted at Chicago and Baltimore. One is an earnest of future progress through a record of achievement; the other is a promise containing a denial of the good that has been done.

"Upon the solid rock of the rights of the individual as granted by the constitution, the Republican party builds its structure of optimism. The Democratic party, on the other hand, in the opening sentence of its address to the electorate, betrays its recession quality by denying the right of Congress, a right again and again confirmed by the Supreme Court, to establish protective duties for the benefit of American industries. It declares as false the vital issue of the constitutional liberties now assailed by those who advocate the overthrow of the independence of the judiciary. It would leave the individual defenseless in the protection of those rights declared inalienable under the constitution."

The Bubonic Plague.

To the general public it often appears that its servants are entirely too liberal with its money, and that Congress often makes useless appropriations to forestall possible events that may never occur at all. So when the present Congress reduced the appropriations for the prevention of epidemics from $500,000 to $100,000 it looked like a prudent saving to most people. Hardly had the bill appeared, however, before the bubonic plague was reported at our doors. No one knows at what moment it may be found in some of our resorts. How it came to Porto Rico and Cuba is a mystery, but it is there and many deaths have already occurred from it. It is a dreaded and terrifying disease, quick in its action and spreading with frightful rapidity. Upon the marine hospital service of this country depends the responsibility of keeping it from our shores, and its activity is hampered by having its appropriation diminished because many statesmen argued there would never be any occasion for extraordinary precautions against plague and cholera. Every precaution is at present being taken to prevent the entrance of the plague to our shores, and additional health officers have been sent to Cuba to see that infected goods and persons are not allowed to be sent here.—Derick.

Conservationists Against Dam Project.

That there is to be no let-up in the opposition to the iniquitous project to grab the water rights of Tionesta creek is evidenced by the fact that the State Conservation Association, which has its headquarters at Harrisburg, is thoroughly enlisted in the cause of the people in resisting this gigantic steal, and will keep a sharp eye out for the great water snake whenever it pokes its head up or shows its poisonous fangs. The Water Supply Commission has given assurances that no further action will be taken in the charter applications until after the next legislature has convened, and this is welcome news to the people of Western Pennsylvania, but it need not, or must not, lull them to sleep thinking that the snake is dead by any means, for the grabbers are still wide awake.

In this connection we are privileged to give the substance of a letter written by Hon. N. P. Wheeler to Hon. J. Horace McFarland, vice president of the Conservation Association, in which he most concisely and completely covers the ground, and puts in a few words just what would happen and what a frightful menace this dam would be to every inhabitant of the Allegheny valley between here and Pittsburg. Every statement made by Mr. Wheeler is true as gospel and will be vouched for by a hundred thousand people if he need be:

ENDEAVOR, PA., July 9, 1912. J. HORACE MCFARLAND, Harrisburg, Pa.

MY DEAR SIR:—I am glad to know your Association is opposing the granting of a charter to place a 300 foot dam near the mouth of Tionesta creek. It would be an absolute monopoly of the seventeen different used water-powers on the Tionesta and its tributaries, granted by the State to strangers for nothing. It would wipe out a chartered railroad for 40 miles, and 5 miles of another, and saw-mills, tanneries, grist-mills, chemical works, kindling-wood factories, hub factories, and farms. It would also wipe out about the best showing of second-growth timber I know of. Lumbering began early on the Tionesta. The fire has been kept out and where not in farms and manufacturing, the territory is covered with fine growing timber. The railroad system would be entirely wiped out by a lake 90 miles long from corner to corner of Forest County, and the County practically wiped off the map. A 300-foot dam in loose shale which extends all along the Tionesta valley, would be a deadly menace to all below in the Allegheny Valley to Pittsburg. Oil City had a proof of what water could do, when, twenty years ago, a dam not over 12 feet high broke at Spartansburg, 32 miles above Oil City, up Oil Creek. The flood overturned oil tanks, the oil spread on the surface of the flood, took fire, and forty people lost their lives at Oil City from the fire and the flood. The proposed dam is 300 feet, within 20 miles. It would be a deadly menace given by the State for nothing. I trust you will oppose this iniquitous scheme.

Yours very truly, N. P. WHEELER.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Kill the Snake Now.

Editorially the Oil City Derrick of Monday again sounds a warning on the possibility of the approval of the hideous dam proposition on Tionesta creek, and calls upon the people to wake up to the danger of the situation. We give below the article in full because it lays bare the situation and points out that powerful monied interests are back of the diabolical scheme:

"From the actions of interested parties it is evident that the citizens of the Tionesta and Allegheny valleys have need to take active measures to kill the Tionesta dam scheme, and do it at once. The Water Supply Commission instead of refusing the application for the charter to the water privileges of the Tionesta and its tributaries, passed it over for action on the part of the Legislature when it meets next January. The only excuse given or apparent for this shifting of the decision from the commission to the Legislature, was that further legislation was needed. It is evident, however, that there is strong influence back of the scheme and it may develop that State officials have more than a casual interest in it.

Last Monday a number of people met in Harrisburg, quietly and without newspaper notice. These men are interested in getting possession of the streams of the State, and to sell the water for power or other purposes. The moving spirit in this meeting was W. M. Jacoby, secretary of the Flood Commission of Pittsburg, and he was the presiding officer of the meeting. The ostensible object of the meeting was to secure legislation to prevent devastation by floods. Underneath this legislation and depending upon it for the success of the scheme, would be the necessity for controlling the streams, and for this purpose the water power companies would promptly offer their services. The Flood Commission will agitate the demand for lessening the devastation by floods, the Legislature will be impudently to pass the laws and provide the appropriations for the purpose, and the power companies will throw themselves into the breach to save the people and the State, by taking over the streams to their advantage. It would seem there is to be a coalition between the power companies and the Flood Commissioners.

"The people of Pittsburg are interested in preventing the yearly floods, the people of Philadelphia, Harrisburg, Scranton and most of the State are indifferent to a matter which applies only to this little corner of Pennsylvania, and therefore the danger of leaving the decision on this important affair to the Legislature, with the strong political and official influences back of it, is apparent at once. The members of two-thirds of the State would have scarcely a passing interest in it, and would be as liable to vote for against it. "The matter is one of vital importance to thousands of people. The conditions of the soil and rock formations at the mouth of the Tionesta are such that a substantial dam with 300 feet breast cannot be built, or any other that would not be a menace to the people living below it. It might hold a year, two years or ten, but it would break at last, and the devastation that occurred at Johnstown and Austin would be multiplied a thousand fold. For 300 feet below the surface the fresh or surface water courses through the sedimentary rocks of this section, and to place upon that a head of 300 feet of water and a lake as large as Chautauque, could not avoid bringing about a disaster in time. There is always too little care given to the question of safety in erecting such structures. Promises of absolute integrity as to concrete and foundation, and in the employment of the best engineering skill are easily made to obtain the desired charter, but those living below that dam would never feel safe.

"The people of this section should insist, as they have the right, upon the Water Supply Commission refusing the application for the charter now. They do not want to live in apprehension of what may happen when the Legislature convenes, with the uncertainty of what that means. The Water Commission has the power to grant or reject, and it should be called upon to exercise that power. Now is the time for our citizens to take action. Those seeking the charter are not idle, and we should be equally as active. Those having the matter in charge would act wisely if they made their protests and demands now.

"The appearance of the secretary of the Pittsburg Flood Commission in secret conference with others at the State Capitol injects a new element of danger in the situation and one that is suggestive to say the least of an unwholesome connection between the Flood Commission and the Power Promoters. Wake up!"

Cooksburg.

The social at A. J. Cook's was a decided success. A large crowd attended and the proceeds were $22.00.

Rev. Hall, pastor of the F. M. church at Pleasant Grove, preached a very interesting sermon in the Fitzgerald school house last Friday night.

A young daughter arrived at the home of E. A. Kuhns last Friday night and by the smile Mr. Kuhns is wearing we think she has promised to remain.

A number of our young ladies have purchased bathing suits and are learning to swim. Their first attempts at this sport have been so successful that we think they won't be classed as amateurs.

The ladies of the M. E. church of Greenwood will hold an ice cream social in the hall at that place Saturday evening, July 20. Everyone is invited to come and bring his pocketbook.

The mill is running in full blast and all the men in our vicinity are now employed.

A number of our ladies attended the picnic of the W. C. T. U., which was given by a farwell party to Mr. and Mrs. John Agnew of Hominy Ridge.

Porkey.

The late rain was hailed as a great blessing by the people in this part of the country, but we do not know to whom the thanks was given for the same. The Potato Company stock went up 25 per cent.

Work has begun on the new residence of E. T. Downey, and the old house has been removed and the new one started, with E. L. Littlefield as boss carpenter and R. W. Burdick, W. Donohue and A. L. Behan as helpers.

Mrs. F. A. Littlefield and children, Henry Booth and Miss Lettie Littlefield are the guests of relatives in the village. Frank Littlefield while on his way from Blue Jay had a bad spill when his bike dumped him, and when he was found later he was unconscious and was taken to the Hotel Eschelman and Dr. Pryor sent for to patch up his contusion and make him presentable to his friends, as he was a slight for sure. His brother, Lash, drove up with a rig for him and he arrived in town able to tell about his experience after coming to. It was a close call to a lip over the river.

Robert Burdick spent Sunday with his family at Henrys Mill and will return on Monday to his work here.

Mrs. Sarah Barnett was the guest of her sister, Mrs. John Black of this town, last week and went to Tylersburg to make her mother a visit.

Mr. Donohue moved into the Blum house near the school building and is now a full fledged Porkeyman, and should be in his element in this creek he will never leave the creek, but spend the rest of his natural life here.

There was a strange auto went through the town on Sunday last with wheels like a buggy, which we should judge would travel any old road in any kind of weather.

Clarence Park and Frank McCauley were through the town on Sunday with new motor cycles. They were exceeding the speed limit for safety, but we hope no accident will befall them as they are both fine young men.

When Robert went up to start Cooper Station last Tuesday he found a cow fast in the belt alley, and from the appearance she had been there for several days. It was learned that she was missed for over a week and probably would have died had the station not started.

Amos Lindberg was looking for her and was past this place but did not notice her in the narrow enclosure.

Miss Roxie Kifer, late of Jamestown, N. Y., was a visitor at the Rupert home on Thursday and stayed over night with Mrs. Rupert, leaving on Friday morning for Erie and returning to her home on their enforced long visit at Sheffield, where they went on May 30 for a visit and were stricken with the measles and remained in their grandmother's home. They were out in time to take in the July 4th exercises at Sheffield, where they went on May 30 for a visit and were stricken with the measles and remained in their grandmother's home.

There was a car of household goods put in the switch here last week, but as there was some misunderstanding it went on to Wellers on the freight next day.

There was a great serenade at Minister one day last week but care was exercised and no one got hurt. The young bloods are waiting patiently for the second couple to come back and there will be another horning bee. We understand there to be another wedding soon.

A swarm of bees located itself on the trees near by the house occupied by John black, but they again arose and sauntered off to a cooler location. The temperature here on Sunday was 90 in the shade.

A party of young people from Mayburg spent Sunday at Hermit's Spring and had a lovely time. This is a very nice place but is so far from anywhere that it is a very large job to get there, and can only be made in a long drive from any place.
